

QUIET TIME

Quiet time tends to amaze,
hearing air jet through nostrils.

I hear my pulse coursing
through veins, to universal rythm.

Plants and trees speak silently
as afternoon transforms to dusk.

Light is fading, grays replacing.

Great fortune to be here.